Rogers—Free Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers assailed protectionism at home and abroad Monday in a strongly worded defense of free trade as best for America and the world.

Speaking to business leaders at the annual U.S. Chamber of Commerce meeting, Rogers said: "There are some Americans in the business community, in Congress and elsewhere who believe we should turn to protectionism to correct the current inequities in our trade and payments position. "I profoundly disagree... in 'walling out' imports we would run the great risk of 'walling in' the very U.S. exports that we want to encourage....

"Today, no single country no matter how powerful, can succeed in a unilateral policy of beggaring its neighbors or its domestic adjustment problems. "It could be disastrous to our national interests to abandon our commitment to a more open world in which our economy, above all others, has flourished."

I Am Curious (Hoover)

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover "happily prepared secret memos" about the sex lives of public figures for Lyndon B. Johnson's presidential bedtime reading, columnist Jack Anderson testified Monday.

Testifying under oath at a House Government Information subcommittee hearing into executive branch secrecy practices, Anderson said he has seen FBI sex reports.

During "secret" probes of prominent Americans, Anderson said, "their sex lives, drinking habits and personal affairs have come under FBI scrutiny, although the FBI has no jurisdiction nor justification for this kind of snooping."

"A love affair, no matter how sordid, is no business of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Yet FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover has demonstrated an intense interest in who is sleeping with whom in Washington," Anderson said.

"President Johnson was one White House occupant who had a fine appreciation for stories about the extracurricular love lives of public figures," the columnist said. "Hoover happily prepared secret memos, loaded with intimate details about the personal affairs of the high and mighty, for the President's bedtime reading."

Johnson and the FBI had no comment on Anderson's testimony.

At the hearing Anderson mentioned no names of those investigated. When contacted by newsmen, Anderson said he had seen such a report on the Rev. Martin Luther King, slain civil-rights leader.

Anderson said Hoover signed the reports, "and my White House sources told me the President used to enjoy reading them." But Anderson said they are not furnished to the White House now because President Nixon is not interested in reading them.

Anderson urged an end to "massive overclassification," and said there should be a law to declassify automatically all documents after two years.

He added: "The executive branch should be required to explain and to justify any secrets it wished to continue beyond two years. The final decision should be made by a national security commission, with representatives from Congress, the executive, the press and the public."

GM, Ford Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's two largest auto manufacturers, General Motors and Ford were indicted by a federal grand jury Monday on charges of conspiring to restrict competition in the fleet market, the Justice Department announced.

The two-count indictment was filed together with a companion civil suit in U.S. District Court in Detroit.

General Motors and Ford quickly responded.

Ford said, "accusations in the indictment are not true," and GM said it will seek an immediate trial, confident it will be vindicated and the government's charges shown to have "no basis in fact."

Named as unindicted co-conspirators were the National Automobile Dealers Association, a trade association of new-car dealers franchised by the automobile manufacturers and Peterson, Howell & Heather Inc. the nation's largest automobile-leasing company.

The indictment and complaint charges that General Motors and Ford have conspired and conspired with NADA, Peterson, Howell & Heather and others who are unnamed, to unreasonably restrain and monopolize the manufacture, sale and distribution of automobiles for the fleet market.

USSR May Want Loan

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union is considering borrowing from U.S. banks to buy machinery in the United States, banking circles said Monday.

The loans, if made, would mark a major change in financial policy for both the banks and the Soviet government. In the past, the Russians have sold gold as necessary to pay for imports of grain from Canada.

"But they are learning how to use their finances," one banker from outside New York commented. "By buying machinery on borrowed money, they don't have to pay back the money until the machinery is paying off by increased production."

Bankers said that the first approaches to the Russians were made by some U.S. banks and that others, including some of the major New York ones, now are interested in the possibility. An interest rate of the U.S. prime rate plus 1/4 of 1 percent has been discussed, although the Russians have objected to this level.

The U.S. prime rate is the interest charged a bank's best customers. A rate 1/4 of 1 percent above the prime was described by one banker as "very good rate indeed." The American prime now is 5 1/4 percent, so on the basis of that, the Russians would be paying 6 percent. This is quite high for a government loan.

Communists Hold Broad Strip
Quang Tri Falls To Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese abandoned Quang Tri on Monday, giving the Communist command control of a broad strip of strategic territory just below the demilitarized zone and a springboard for attacks deep into the South—possibly against Hue.

The Quang Tri loss, Hanoi's first major triumph in the 33-day-old offensive, was accompanied by these developments in other parts of South Vietnam:

—A large area along the central coast, with a population of 200,000 and an important rice crop, fell to enemy control.

—The North Vietnamese increased pressure on the provincial capital of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon.

—Saigonese began to feel their first twinges of war nerves in the offensive as some officials predicted possible rocket attacks on the capital itself.

Quang Tri became the first South Vietnamese provincial capital to fall in the offensive that began March 30 with a North Vietnamese stab across the demilitarized zone.

Allied officials believe the Communist command seeks to take over the two northernmost provinces of South Vietnam to give Hanoi and the Viet Cong bargaining power at the peace talks in Paris.

Several thousand South Vietnamese troops were trying to battle their way south from Quang Tri, capital of the province of the same name, late Monday after efforts to defend the city were officially abandoned.

Field reports said at least 20 American field advisers were with them, having volunteered to stay with their units as 80 other Americans and 49 South Vietnamese were extracted in a daring helicopter rescue operation.

A U.S. bomber, flying with the helicopters to suppress ground fire, and a forward observer plane were shot down during the rescue. The jet pilot was picked up; the fate of the second was unknown.

The loss of its northernmost provincial capital was the most stunning setback yet for South Vietnam in the North Vietnamese offensive. The enemy now has seized control of all territory up to 27 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The loss of Quang Tri immediately increased the threat to Hue, the former imperial capital 32 miles farther south. Like Quang Tri, Hue is believed to be marked as a primary target of Hanoi's offensive.

The northernmost point of government control after Quang Tri's abandonment was a marine position on Highway 1, eight miles south of that city and 24 miles north of Hue.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from Hue that the first of the Quang Tri defenders had reached the line after fighting past North Vietnamese forces controlling the sandy coastal dunes area south of the abandoned city.

"We have given up plans to defend Quang Tri," Brig. Gen. Thomas Bowen, senior U.S. adviser in the northernmost 1st military region, said in closing the city's abandonment. He added that the troops left in the area would be "working their way out as best they can."

On the central coast, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong extended their control over 200,000 people in the north. (Turn To Page Seven) (See "Quang Tri")

Ghetto Poor Angered
By Operation Of FHA

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee was confronted Monday with the anger of low-income black and white inner-city homeowners who said their neighborhoods are being ruined by federal housing programs. They want the programs saved but drastically reshaped.

Accompanied by the cheers, clapping and interjections of 100 of their supporters, representatives of the multi-racial National People's Caucus poured out their frustration with monopoly subcommittee.

They said the Federal Housing Administration has permitted speculators and financial institutions to reap large profits from the sale of FHA-guaranteed used homes, leaving the poor with decrepit homes that many must abandon.

"What for so long have been considered natural phenomena—changing neighborhoods, deteriorating cities—are not natural," said Gale Cincotta of Chicago, chairman of the People's Caucus.

"It's an outright plan," she said. "And the government, the realtors, and the big-money people are making a lot of money out of changing neighborhoods, out of communities we call home."

Representatives from St. Louis, Detroit, Baltimore and Philadelphia recounted stories of unwary poor families bilked by real estate operators in the sale of substandard, FHA-certified houses.

The audience hissed, booed and shouted exceptions to some of the statements of Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, when he defended the Nixon administration's housing efforts.

The People's Caucus, a coalition of 368 grassroots organizations, wants a cleanup of the programs and government reparations to owners of crumbling houses. Formation of the caucus in March was seen as a first step toward cooperation between white ethnics and minorities after decades of racial conflict in inner cities.

Caucus representatives were the opening witnesses at the subcommittee's hearings into the financial manipulations that have allowed speculators, mortgage companies, banks and the final holders of FHA-guaranteed mortgages to make large profits in the inner city.

Ohio Primary Hunting
Ground For Delegates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern roamed their Ohio campaign battleground Monday, hunting votes on the eve of a primary election likely to install one of them as the man to beat in the Democratic presidential contest.

Ohio offered the main event on a card of four Tuesday presidential primaries in states that will cast a total of 281 nominating votes at the Democratic National Convention.

The Ohio share is 153 delegate votes. McGovern and Humphrey were the chief contenders there, colliding headon after the separate victories that knocked Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine out of active contention in the primaries.

Humphrey claimed a boost because of Muskie's Ohio drop-out, but McGovern said he saw a chance of scoring an upset there and capturing a majority of the delegates.

While he concentrated on

Ohio and McGovern, Humphrey also was facing Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace Tuesday in next-door Indiana, where a total of 76 convention votes are at stake.

As in Ohio, Muskie remains on the Indiana ballot despite his campaign dropout.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington campaigned in Ohio, too, sniping at both McGovern and Humphrey. Jackson called McGovern a left winger, and accused Humphrey of sidestepping issues in an effort to be everyone's friend.

Wallace also was seeking to defend his political base in Tuesday's Alabama primary, which will elect 29 members of the 37-vote delegation. Home-state political foes challenged the governor as he sought to capture at least a majority of the elected delegates.

Democrats in the District of Columbia, which will have 15 convention votes, also choose delegates in a Tuesday primary. The competition there was between Walter E. Fauntroy, the District delegate to Congress, running as a favorite son, and a slate of uncommitted delegates.

Ohio has no presidential preference primary, but the names of the candidates appear above their slates of delegates, and the contest was clear.

In Ohio, about 2.4 million people were eligible to vote, and a heavy turnout was forecast. The Democrats will choose 38 convention delegates on a statewide basis, the rest in congressional districts.

Delegate slates are on the ballot for Humphrey, McGovern, Muskie, Jackson and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

The polls open at 6:30 a.m. EDT Tuesday for 12 hours of balloting.

In Indiana 19 delegates will be elected at large, the rest of the 76 on a district basis. The Indiana polls open at 7 a.m. EDT, close at 7 p.m. About 1.2 million voters were expected to cast ballots.

High-Level Activity
Aids SALT Outlook

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Monday that President Nixon has had recent secret exchanges with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev which Nixon believes have substantially increased the possibility of a U.S.-Soviet missile-curb agreement.

Nixon has ordered Ambassador Gerard C. Smith, top U.S. negotiator at the U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, to return to the Helsinki negotiations with new instructions.

The President was reported confident that the Soviet envoy to the SALT parley, Vladimir Semenov, also will receive from his government new instructions which "can lead to an agreement which is mutually acceptable to both sides."

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced this following a one-hour Nixon session with Smith and top administration diplomatic, military and intelligence officers.

Smith headed back to Helsinki Monday night, having arrived for Washington consultations last Wednesday.

Ziegler did not go into any details of the prospective U.S.-Soviet accord or say whether it would be reached before, during or after Nixon's May 22-29 visit to the Soviet Union.

The presidential spokesman said that a major advance toward a strategic-arms-limitation agreement was scored in the Nixon-Brezhnev exchanges. They were carried on mainly through written messages, supplementing Henry A. Kissinger's secret talks with the Soviet leader in Moscow April 20-24.

Ziegler said this "relates to a broadening of the scope of an offensive freeze."

These words left an implication that Moscow and Washington may be including submarine missiles as part of an initial SALT agreement.

It has already been agreed in principle that a SALT accord would include both defensive and offensive strategic weapons.

The SALT negotiators have worked out proposed limitations to convert antiballistic missiles—ABMs—and land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles of both sides. But whether underwater missiles would be included has been one of the major issues in the recent negotiating rounds.

The White House disclosure of Nixon-Brezhnev secret exchanges concerning the SALT issue followed other recent disclosures of Nixon communications with the Soviet chief on other issues, too. Kissinger ranged over the strategic arms matter during his Moscow discussions, which also dealt with Vietnam.

Ziegler said, however, that "we have never associated the negotiations in Helsinki with what happens in Vietnam."

Refugees On Road
In South Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — More than 350,000 refugees are on the roads of South Vietnam, seeking escape from the thunderous fighting in the northern provinces and central highlands.

American advisers in Saigon reported nearly a quarter of a million refugees are on the move trying to get to Hue and then to Da Nang from Quang Tri, the northernmost province capital abandoned Monday by South Vietnamese troops.

About 5,000 have boarded boats at Tam My, near Hue, to get to Da Nang by sea.

In coastal Binh Dinh, the nation's most populous province, welfare officials said there "has been so much fighting the people don't know which way to run." They estimated the flow of refugees on foot, by truck, on rickety buses and motor bikes at 35,000, mostly from An Nhon and Binh Khe.

Perhaps another 37,000 out of Hoai An, now in enemy hands, had not made it so far to Qui Nhon.

For the first time in more than two weeks, a rice drop was made on An Loc, the embattled provincial capital in the rubber plantation country 60 miles north of Saigon.

"But," said one social worker, "we don't expect there'll be much of a refugee problem to worry about by the end of the week. The city has taken a fearful artillery pounding."

War victims trying to flee the enemy columns moving on the central highlands capital of Kontum from three directions were bottled up along Highway 14 by sporadic action in the Pleiku Pass, leading to Pleiku City.

A welfare worker just back from Kontum reported a trickle of families, carrying everything they had on their backs, were braving the pass, almost oblivious of the sniper fire and whoosh of mortar rounds.

With all of the northern part of Binh Dinh Province and its recently harvested rice crop in enemy hands, welfare workers were beginning to worry about the availability of food supplies in the coastal areas to the south.

The roads were still open in government-held areas for trucking in food and the Vietnamese air force has flown some rice in to temporary refugee settlements and drop points along the route to Qui Nhon.

The renewed fighting in Mekong Delta in Chuong Province brought the flow of refugees to the area. About 5,000 were in a military base at Phu Cuong, 15 miles from the city.

Hue, a city also clogged with refugees, had classes to make refugees, suddenly beginning to move into the city, fighting in Quang Tri, large segments of the population moving on Nang to escape the advance.

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota is showing the same contempt for jogging down the middle of the road that Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona felt in 1964.

While the number of presidential primaries with pledged national convention delegates has increased sharply in eight years, there is another parallel between the McGovern and Goldwater strategies. Both gave a selective attention to states using the convention system for choosing delegates. Goldwater was the candidate of the right wing of the Republican party. McGovern now is the candidate of the Democratic left wing. In 1964, Goldwater was entered in only three major primaries and the victor in only California — the most important then as now — which helped assure his nomination. In 1972, California may settle the outcome of McGovern's campaign for the Democratic nomination.

Secret Draft Formed
McGovern acknowledged his initial weakness when he became an announced presidential candidate in January, 1971, a year ahead of the traditional schedule. Goldwater followed tradition for his formal announcement, but a draft organization had been formed secretly in December, 1962, and had gone into public operation the following spring.

Despite his recent surge, McGovern still has far to go to win the nomination and election.

A McGovern victory would upset the theory that the electable candidates come from close to the center of the political spectrum in their constituencies. This idea was articulated in detail two years ago in "The Real Majority" by Richard M. Scammon and Benjamin Wattenberg.

McGovern Changes Image
Scammon himself recently suggested that McGovern started to climb by moving toward the center and exploiting issues with appeal to blue-collar voters. Wattenberg has served as a campaign adviser to Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, so far a loser in the 1972 contest for the nomination.

From the beginning, McGovern has shown respect for the Scammon theory. He has de-emphasized his early image as a one-issue candidate as an opponent of the war by talking about a huge cut in the military budget, tax reform, rebuilding cities and expansion of school aid.

"I have not found the glorification of the establishment center to be the mood of the American people," he has said. "Indeed, most Americans see the establishment center that commands neither their confidence nor their love."

The Democrats began the year with Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine as their pace-setting candidate, close to the center of the party and without the political liabilities of the long-distance runner, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. Muskie's startling decline carried him into virtual retirement from competition for the presidency.

If McGovern should be the Democratic nominee, President Nixon would be viewed as the candidate nearer to the political center in spite of his one-time identification with the conservative wing of the GOP.

It's Law Day

May 1st is Law Day. The name, tho a good one, could be a little misleading at a time when the phrase law-and-order is commonly overused and sometimes abused. The law in Law Day isn't hyphenated with anything because it doesn't need to be; all by itself, it is the foundation underneath freedom.

That's the way Law Day's founder, Dwight D. Eisenhower, thought of it when he first proclaimed the day on May 1, 1958. It was intended as the free world's answer to May Day, national holiday of the Communist states. The contrast was obvious. The laws by which free men govern themselves have nothing to do with the soul-stifling repression of totalitarian governments.

There's nothing wrong with law-and-order (one follows the other), but it is too often used to mean a club-swinging attack on nonconformity. Nothing could be further from the meaning of Law Day—which simply celebrates our system of reasoned laws that restrain individual freedoms only as they collide with other individual freedoms. This distinction should be honored today and always.

Space Is Costly, But We Learn

Once again millions of Americans sat on the edges of their chairs watching a space spectacular being presented live and in color right in their homes.

Well, perhaps they don't lean so far forward any more. The target site was different and more photogenic, some aspects of the astronauts' assignment were new, but a moon landing is now pretty much old hat.

We knew that the men of Apollo 16 could do it. We were confident they would complete their mission successfully and return safely to earth.

And such is our fickleness that when Apollo 16 is a turned page in the history of space exploration, many of us will again take up that that old refrain, "Why spend so many billions on space when there are so many unsolved problems on earth?"

The question is pretty much rhetorical as far as the Apollo program is concerned. Only one more flight in the series remains. After that, manned exploration of the moon—by this country, at least—will cease, for how many years no one can say.

The question will again become a live issue, however, as the nation cranks up Skylab, the program to send men into earth orbit for extended periods via reusable space shuttles.

There is no one good answer to the question, but the following quotations may provide part of an answer.

"The suggestion of an either-or choice between technological and social advances ignores the fact that without a technology base we will not have the capability to address ourselves effectively to any national problem," says J. F. Clayton, general manager of Bendix Aerospace Systems Division.

He points out that the task of going to the moon required a government, industry and university team which at its peak involved organizing 400,000 people, hundreds of universities and 20,000 separate industrial companies to a common goal.

The project was done in public and in full view of the world. It was done without a military objective and it was done within the cost and schedule set for it ten years earlier. These management techniques are available to the country if ever we again decide to use them on what we now consider almost impossible tasks, says Clayton.

Aerospace writer James J. Haggerty has also spoken about the boost to technology given by the Apollo program:

"So extraordinary were the demands for performance and reliability needed to land men on the moon that the Apollo team had to compress several decades of normal technological development into less than one. Advances in aerospace technology were not, by themselves, sufficient for the task; it became necessary to force progress in virtually every scientific and technological discipline."

Finally, a passage from "Earth-bound Astronauts," a book about the builders of Apollo-Saturn by Beirne Lay, Jr.:

"Still struggling as we are in the Dark Ages of an understanding of human motivations (including our motivation for sending men to the moon), we can learn at least two lessons from our space program—the miracle that can result from the unemotional approach to a massive problem, and the paramount importance of proceeding step by step instead of plunging, as we have, into remedies for some of our social ills.

"Man has been given fresh grounds for confidence that he may yet achieve other 'impossibilities,' even create an environment on earth of dignity for all men, if only he can learn, as has the space pioneer, to keep his cool."

This is the legacy of Apollo.

Viet Prosperity Key To Victory

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The war will be won or lost in Vietnam's hamlets—not in An Loc, Hue or Pleiku.

Hanoi forgot this fact, and in a basic series of blunders destroyed the imprints of the Viet Cong movement in the years 1966 to 1968, culminating in the Tet-1968 slaughter of their most promising cadre.

Hanoi destroyed the power of the Viet Cong because the VC would not completely submit to Hanoi. The VC began to have their own ideas of the war, its objectives and how it should be fought.

The men around the late Ho Chi Minh believed that the war, and the fruits of the war (South Vietnam) must be completely under Hanoi control.

In this, Hanoi differed violently with Mao Tse-tung. But did see eye-to-eye with Moscow.

After Tet-1968, this reporter talked at length with a general (not a Vietnamese) who had been one of Ho Chi Minh's most successful guerrilla operatives in the war against the French. It was this man's considered opinion that Hanoi had destroyed its chances for success when it deliberately set up the flower of the Viet Cong to die.

To win this war, therefore, Hanoi must rebuild the VC. This will not now be done easily.

First, Hanoi must destroy the burgeoning prosperity in the South—which shows up in bumper rice crops, TVs, radio, Honda motorcycles and money savings in many rural homes.

This prosperity has discouraged enrollments in the Viet Cong by village youngsters, frustrated Communist tax gatherers and slashed intelligence cooperation and the supply of rice, medicines and bearers to the VC and North Vietnamese.

More importantly, Hanoi must create a feeling of hopelessness among the rural people of South Vietnam. Hanoi must convince them of these things: — That any time they rise above subsistence level, they will be cut down—their prosperity destroyed.

— That any time they accept a post of responsibility in their hamlet, their school or their fishing or farming cooperative, they will die or have the shadow of death upon them.

— That whenever there is a little peace in the hamlet, it will not last long—but that terrorism will be always with them. If it disappears for awhile, it will reappear. They cannot depend on the police, for the police will be destroyed. They cannot depend on the army.

— That the Communists will never give up, and since that is the way things are, they had better obey the underground—or else. For the Americans are going, as the Communists said they would all these years. And the South Vietnamese army units have left your hamlets naked, as the Communists warned. And the weapons your husbands and sons have in the hamlet are too old and the ammunition too limited to defend you against the guerrillas.

This fight for what men dare look forward to is the heart of this war.

If the South Vietnamese villagers do indeed lose hope, then the North Vietnamese can start rebuilding their local underground. No police force, no army, no aid program could then stop them.

This then is the news to watch. How successful are the Communist guerrilla attacks on the hamlets. Not how many police, pacification teams or local officials do the Communist kill, but do they achieve these local victories easily against men who give up without a fight, or do they win the hard way against men and women who defend their villages to the best of their ability, even though going down to defeat before a better-armed enemy. This is what will tell you how the war is going.

Dear Ann Landers: What would you do? Imagine yourself as the principal character in the following situation: You are of no set age. You can be either male or female. You have a cleft palate, known more commonly as harelip. In other words, you have a speech impediment caused by a congenital defect. You are enjoying an evening with friends and someone suggests turning on TV to see "his favorite comedian."

Suddenly he's on the screen telling a joke about "this dog with a harelip that barks funny." Would you try to hide your embarrassment by laughing? Would you leave the room to spare the others discomfort? Can you imagine anything so needlessly cruel as this kind of ridicule? Well, how about the next grabber?

Another TV show—this "hilarious" skit involves a stutterer and a victim of cerebral palsy. The comedian plays both parts. He does it to perfection—the labored facial contortions, the tangled utterances, the spastic arm and hand movements. It was a masterful imitation. But can you imagine the anguish this skit must have produced from coast to coast? What about the victims who were watching? Their families? Then after the stutterer has painfully picked his way through a particularly long and difficult sentence, his friend's punch line was, "Yeah—that's easy for YOU to say."

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine (woman in her mid-40's) dropped out of sight for about a month. She said she decided on the spur of the moment to take a trip to the Orient. No one received so much as a postcard from her.

When she returned she looked ten years younger. She claims she had "a wonderful rest." A few of us are sure she had her face lifted. I decided to come right out and ask her. She replied, "Absurd. I did nothing of the kind." Then she offered $10,000 to anyone who could prove otherwise.

My question is this: Is it possible that the job was done so skillfully that even a doctor could not see the telltale scars behind the ears and up into the hairline? Please check with your consultants and let us know.—Unconvinced

Dear U.C.: The consultants say no way. A surgical facelift entails scars from the incisions. A woman who invites inspection in all probability is telling the truth.

TUESDAY, MAY 2—Born today, you have a great deal of strength of character—something which you will have need for throughout your life, for you will always be fighting one battle or another in your efforts to stand up for what you believe. Possessing the courage of your convictions, you hold integrity dearer than any other character trait; you would rather, in fact, lose a treasured goal to your most hated enemy than give up an inch of ground where your principles are concerned. Such an attitude may bring you pain at times—but, paradoxically, it will always bring you joy. Although you would greatly enjoy the heights of success—likely that you will be able to climb quite as high as you might like. In the first place, you are somewhat oversensitive to the adverse criticism of loved ones and may well find for that reason that your whole heart and mind is simply not in some vital endeavor of which those near and dear to you do not wholeheartedly approve. Interested in other people and their problems, you will always take an active part in causes which both appeal to you and have a genuine underdog. You are particularly inclined to sympathize with the problems of children and are never one to think that simply because the person concerned is of small size, the difficulty in which they are involved must be, too. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Take the welfare of those near and dear to you in consideration. You may not be so quick, then, to change horses midstream.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—If you would have your deeds receive the kind of recognition you think they deserve, allow others to know of them. It's all right to blow your own horn.
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Don't be deterred by criticism. If you have worked things out carefully—and really want to go through with your plans—all should go well.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Don't follow another into error. Fortunately, you should have enough time to change your plans before the present ones actually get underway.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Rewards for recent good behavior come slowly these days. Nevertheless, you would be unwise to change your ways. Adjust to temporary loss.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Make the best of another's interference today. Where parents are concerned, be tolerant. The short view may be best in the long run.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Turn your attention to those nearest to your heart. Colleagues and co-workers can get along on their own emotional systems for a while.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Curb your spending proclivities or you may find that you've overdone things rather badly. You may soon need the penny saved.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Spend time at home in the midst of familiar surroundings. This is not the day for trying out your wings; stick to what you know best.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Take care that in attempting to win your point in discussion, you don't cause things to deteriorate into argument. Listen to others.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Refuse to be drawn into altercations with family members. You will have enough difficulties with those not related to you today.
ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Accept the limitations that have been placed upon you. You can neither climb higher nor dig deeper than your potential dictates.

Church World Service Sets Blanket Sunday

May 7 is Blanket Sunday in Illinois, according to Mrs. John Gotschall, chairman of Church World Service for Church Women United in Jacksonville.
Good used blankets may be taken to local churches on that day, along with a quarter to help defray processing costs. Or good new blankets may be purchased through Church World Service for $3 each. Cash gifts of any size are acceptable; however, all money contributions should be kept separate and channeled through local church offices, or sent directly to Mrs. Gotschall, 1406 S. West street.
"Even S and H Green Stamp books can be contributed," Mrs. Gotschall said. "Three books will provide two blankets." CWS estimates that 300,000 blankets will be needed this year to meet minimum expected requests. Earlier this year 272 bales, weighing 25,202 pounds, of clothing and blankets were sent to West Virginia following the disastrous flood down Buffalo Creek.
Hundreds of thousands of Bengali refugees in India received blankets purchased in India by CWS to provide them with protection from the cold wind and rains of the monsoon season. And thousands of hospital beds in Malawi are now covered with CWS blankets, distributed by the Hospital Association of Malawi to which 132 institutions belong, accounting for 42 per cent of the hospital beds in that country.

CARS COLLIDE ON COUNTRY ROAD NEAR NORTONVILLE

Three injuries were reported in a two-car accident about 1:15 p.m. Sunday on a gravel road, two miles southwest of Nortonville.
Investigating state police say cars driven by 18-year-old Robert Glover of route one, Murrayville, and 45-year-old Mary C. Black of 1124 West Walnut met almost head-on at the crest of a hill on the 12-foot wide road.

Soroptimist; Mrs. C. Y. Rowe, president of Pilot; Miss Frances Woodrum, incoming vice-president of Altrusa.
Mr. Trull, who has been extension adviser here from the University of Illinois for the last 15 years, prefaced his informative talk by commending the Pilot Club for its tree project and congratulating them for the progress made in the restoration of trees on the city boulevards. He continued by stressing the importance of trees and shrubs in any community, and described the work which is done under his supervision. One aspect is concerned with reforestation and management of wood lots; the other is landscaping and home grounds improvement.
Stating that the city of Jacksonville was laid out by stakes driven into the prairie grass, Mr. Trull then said that one tree was visible near what is now College avenue and several more could be seen in the distance. He commented on the foresight of the pioneers who planted the hundreds of trees which were of benefit to future generations.
Mr. Trull called attention to the fact that this is the 100th anniversary of Arbor Day, founded by J. Sterling Morton. He paid tribute to Mr. Morton for the contribution he made to this country in his endless campaign to urge people to plant trees, orchards, shrubs and flower gardens. President Rowe presided at the meeting, introducing Mrs. Brennan and Miss Woodrum whose club members in attendance introduced themselves by classification. Invocation was given by the Pilot Club chaplain, Mrs. Loralee Huber, and the Pilot Code of Ethics by Mrs. Arthur Samore. Tables for the evening were decorated with multi-colored topiary trees and candles provided by Mrs. Milton Stout.

In many cases Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itching and actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. Tests by doctors on hundreds of patients showed this to be true in many cases. In fact, many doctors, themselves, use Preparation H or recommend it for their families. Preparation H ointment or suppositories.

Some Helpful Pointers On Traveling With Dog

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—I am answering D. M., who was concerned about traveling with dogs and children and still looking neat. Our dog has long hair and we have traveled with him when our children were small and now with our grandchildren. To keep neat, take one-inch-wide masking tape, tear into three-inch strips and put one of these on the back of the fingers and blot on skirts, sweaters and so on to collect dog hairs. When finished, drop in your litter bag. This is much better than a brush.

When sticky hands cause a problem now there are packaged wet towels, but before their day we filled a dishwashing liquid bottle with clear water and had a roll of paper towels or toilet tissue for drying. Use just enough water to dampen and wash spots off. Include some hand lotion and each child can make a game of rubbing it on hands and face when needed to prevent chapping. — ELIZABETH S.
DEAR POLLY—Like D. M. we, too, travel by car and with a white German shepherd dog and always want to look presentable when we get out of the car. We travel months each year and I have tried to adapt to it by wearing clothes that repel hair. Nylon or leather coats are best. All other clothing has a hard finish. Avoid dark colors and soft naps. Prints, checks and plaids are always good. In fact, the above suggestions are good even if you do not travel with a dog or child.

If a dressy coat is to be taken along it is kept in a clothing bag and only put on when getting out of the car. We also carry a clothes brush and a hand vacuum that works off the car cigarette lighter.

Our dog is an excellent traveler but when we leave him alone in the car for a short time we make sure he is not in the hot sun and has sufficient water and ventilation. He repays us by not allowing any strangers in the car while we are gone. — MRS. E. L.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Recently some visiting children scribbled with red crayon on my daughter's green blackboard. Does anyone have a remedy for removing this crayon? If so, I would appreciate hearing about it. — MRS. R. P.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is one of long standing. When a recipe calls for a small, medium or large onion, the small one may mean the size of a dime, a medium one the size of a walnut or even a goose egg and I have seen large onions the size of cabbage heads. So WHY, I ask you, when designating the use of onions don't these recipes give the amount by measurements? Maybe one small onion could mean one teaspoon or maybe one-fourth cup or even two cups of chopped onion. I hope you get the point. — BERTHA.

Oswald: "One of the easiest bad habits for a player to fall into is that of not recognizing the fact that when his partner opens the bidding and he has more than ten points it is up to him to take some aggressive action."

Jim: "They know this when they have as many as 13 since the idea that an opening bid opposite an opening bid is worth a game is well established. It is the 11 and 12 point hands that cause trouble."

Oswald: "Here is a case in point. Someone had taught North to raise partner's major suit when possible. North felt that his hand wasn't strong enough to warrant a jump raise so he raised to two with his 11 high card points."

Jim: "North has enough for a non-forcing jump to three. He does not have enough for a forcing jump. He also has enough to respond two diamonds."

Oswald: "A two-diamond response would lead to a two-spade rebid by opener. North could then raise to three spades and South would be strong enough to continue to game."

Broken Romance Is Cause Young Reader Tries Suicide

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article about the girl who tried to commit suicide. Well, I have had that experience. I took an overdose of aspirin—a whole bottle. Well, obviously I am still alive, but it was no fun. I sat through the whole time because I didn't want anybody to know about it, especially my mother. I did this because of my boyfriend. I have thought about trying it again. I am so mixed up I don't know what to do. Could you please give me some advice? Is there any chance of after effects of taking the aspirin, because I went deaf for a whole day because there was a ringing noise in my head?

Dear Reader—You are certainly not alone. In 1965, one authority estimated that there were 60,000 attempted suicides in young people under age 20 each year in the United States. The teenage period is a particularly difficult time, because of the change from dependency on parents to independence and the powerful influence of dramatic changes in the body.

The adolescent frequently needs a counselor outside the family, which our society fails to provide. Most parents whose child attempts suicide are usually greatly surprised and didn't even realize that their child was in distress. There are similar patterns in adolescents who attempt suicide. It is not just that they come from a "broken home," because there are a lot of children who have this experience but don't attempt suicide. More important, a divorce or remarriage occurs in the teenage years. Parents who are separated and don't remarry have children with a lesser incidence of attempted suicide.

The basic problem is continued repeated stress with elements in the environment that tend to cause the individual to feel isolated and alone. The precipitating factor, as in your case, can be a terminated romance. Such unsuccessful romances are particularly difficult because of the estrangement that often exists between the child and parents.

The best thing I can advise young people in your group to do is to seek medical help. Have your very own doctor. If you are in a university setting, most of the health services are reasonably familiar with the emotional strain of adolescents and can provide some help.

It is difficult to find help outside the family that you can depend on. Sometimes ministers do an excellent job in this role. Uncles and aunts sometimes do, and I have often wondered if this is one of the roles that grandparents used to furnish. It is unfortunate that some parents can't fill this role, but frequently they are so closely involved in the situation that they don't recognize the problem. It is much the same difficulty we all have in evaluating ourselves and, after all, families are merely an extension of one's own being.

The aspirin you took will probably not cause deafness if you can hear all right now. But it can cause hearing damage.

If you can't talk about this with your mother, perhaps you can find a mature and intelligent adult you can trust and with whom you can establish a meaningful dialogue.

'Better Ideas' pay

DETROIT (UPI)—Employees of Ford Motor Co. also have "better ideas"—$31 million worth, to be exact.

Since Ford began its Employee Suggestion Plan in August, 1947, awards totaling $31 million, including 319 new cars, have been paid to employees for their better ideas. More than 2 million ideas for improvements were submitted. About 387,000 of them were adopted.

During the brief respite between spring vacation and summer vacation a mother should make preparations. That is to say there is absolutely no way to avoid facing up to being surrounded by children during the months ahead.

Each year about this time I start running into items telling mothers how to cope with children during those empty summer afternoons. The ideas supposedly keep children happy and mother sane.

Last year's collection of ideas include instructions on how to make miniature flower pots out of catsup lids how to make jigsaw puzzles out of photographs etc.

Obviously the makers of these lists have never had children around for an entire summer. Someone who has had children around for an entire summer has learned that thinking small is a mistake. A smart mother learns to think BIG.

How about the mother who handed her children shovels and hard hats and told them they could duplicate a missile site?

By Aug. 13 they were still happily digging and school had started before they were ready to call for cement.

Another mother threw away her children's miniature paint sets gave them each a five-gallon bucket and a three-inch brush and let them spend the summer doing murals on the Posture. You've heard people comment about a stunning woman "she wears her clothes so well." What they really mean that she stands, sits, and moves attractively in her clothes. What you wear can be made to look better or worse than it is by the way you carry yourself by your posture.

In my opinion good posture begins with shoulders. They must be held low and slightly back. When shoulders are held high, the neck looks shorter, and the garment will not look the way it was intended. Some women are born with high shoulders and some who are more athletic than fragile develop them. You can overcome this predicament by training yourself to pull down firmly on both shoulders while stretching up at the very base of your skull.

A long throatline is a tremendous asset. It helps to give an illusion of slenderness to your entire figure, and when the head is positioned correctly, it suggests elegance and personal pride.

Where should your head be held? Queenly high. You can check yourself by looking directly into your eyes in the mirror. Look straight ahead—neither up nor down. That is the position in which you should carry your head whether standing, sitting or walking. A drooping head will make your nose seem longer than it is, and if you have any tendency to puffness beneath your eyes, the condition will be accentuated. Few women hold their heads too high but those who do make their jaws and cheeks seem fuller.

The placement of your upper arms has a bearing on the look of your figure. Never should they be pressed tightly against your body, for this will thicken the look of your upper torso, and in a sleeveless dress, cause your upper arms look fleshly. To add to the effects of a slim, your upper arms should be carried slightly away from your torso.

Assaults Permissiveness

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has given a select gathering of Texans a sample of what the rest of America may be hearing in this fall's re-election campaign:

A ringing defense of his Vietnam policy as necessary for future peace abroad, and an assault on permissiveness in society at home.

Standing beneath a yellow-and-white-striped party canopy overlooking the rolling pastures of Treasury Secretary John Connally's south Texas ranch, Nixon delivered a 65-minute dress rehearsal Sunday night on several of the key issues this election year—discussed in what he said was "a totally nonpartisan, not political way."

Then Monday, aides said, Nixon began receiving foreign-policy reports, probably including the latest assessment of the North Vietnamese offensive which scored fresh success Monday.

After returning to the White House at midday, the chief executive summoned high-level officials for a strategy session on the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with the Soviet Union.

Nixon was in Texas for fewer than 24 hours, but he told reporters he liked what he found in the Lone Star State. "This is a big country," he said as he gazed across Connally's 3,500-acre cattle ranch. "It produces big men ..."

The President left unsaid another political fact of life: Texas also produces 26 electoral votes, and although heavily Democratic, it has conservative leanings important to a Republican seeking another term in the White House.

As he fielded friendly questions from 200 of the Democratic Cabinet member's friends at an after-dinner session interspersed with applause and toasts to "the courage of the President," Nixon hit hardest on Vietnam.

The chief executive said latest reports from U.S. commanders in Vietnam say that "the South Vietnamese will be able to hold ... provided the United States continues to furnish the air and naval support that we have been furnishing to stop this invasion."

Nixon said again that no U.S. ground forces are involved in the current combat "and none will be."

He noted that he had ordered bombing raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong areas and said "as this offensive continues ... we will continue to make strikes on military targets throughout Vietnam."

He reinforced this point by adding:

"We are prepared to use our military and naval strength against military targets throughout North Vietnam, and we believe that the North Vietnamese are taking a very great risk if they continue their offensive in the South."

A joint Egyptian-Soviet communiqué, issued Saturday, indicated for the first time that Russia was ready to back an Arab decision to resume hostilities against Israel. Unlike previous communiqués issued after similar visits by Sadat to Moscow, which emphasized the necessity of resolving the Arab-Israeli conflict peacefully, Saturday's message said the Arabs "have every right to use all methods" to regain land occupied by Israel in the 1967 war.

It was his first speech since his return to Egypt from his three-day trip. He said before leaving he would seek additional jet fighter-bombers and long-range missiles in his talks with

Businessmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Monday lifted pay and price controls on millions of small businesses and small governmental units.

It also tightened its grip on medium-size builders and hospitals, and concentrated more of its controls manpower on big businesses and big unions.

Director Donald Rumsfeld of the Cost of Living Council said the changes are designed to make controls work better by cutting red tape.

He said controls will stay in effect for the rest of the economy until they work, and declined to predict when they would be ended.

The council removed both pay and price controls generally from businesses and local governmental units with 60 or fewer employees.

However, unions and firms of whatever size in the health and construction industries remain subject to controls because their prices have risen far faster than others.

Also, rent controls remain in effect for landlords not exempted earlier.

The council earlier had removed controls from small retail firms and from workers earning less than $1.90 an hour.

All told, the council now has lifted price controls from a total of 6.5 million firms accounting for 28 per cent of the nation's sales dollars. Wage controls have been removed from 19 million workers making up 28 per cent of all workers drawing paychecks.

Pay controls also are gone from 67,500 small counties and towns with a total 378,000 employees, which is 83 per cent of all local governments but only 7 per cent of all local government workers. Local taxes never have been controlled.

Rumsfeld said business competition will tend to keep down prices and wages of the exempted firms. He said the council decided that controlling them directly took more manpower than it is worth.

He said also the government will keep an eye on exempted sectors of the economy and could re-impose controls if necessary. "We expect responsible behavior by the firms that are being exempted by this decision," he said.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, said the exemptions are a move in the right direction. The committee has urged that controls be applied only to the largest businesses and unions, and to some smaller ones, including those in the construction trades.

Both sides agreed that the Senate this year is unlikely to pass either the proposed constitutional amendment against busing or President Nixon's requested curb on court-ordered busing for integrating the nation's schools.

There appeared to be agreement that for the President to succeed, there must be stronger grass roots force to either change the minds of some senators, or successful campaigns to defeat some of them this fall.

That summation emerged from a board meeting of the National Council Against Forced Busing, a coalition representing parents' groups across the nation. The council, which met with White House representatives, believes its session was a success.

Successor To Wills

By United Press International

The name Bill Russell may be the handwriting on the wall for 38-year-old shortstop Maury Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Russell, only 22, was hailed as the starting assignment at shortstop three games ago when Wills was benched by manager Walter Alston for weak hitting, and the youngster has responded to the challenge with five hits in nine at bats, including two home runs and six runs batted in.

Russell, who has been used sparingly by the Dodgers in each of the past two seasons, collected a home run and a double and drove in four runs Sunday to help the Dodgers and righthander Don Sutton to a 7-0 victory over the New York Mets.

In other National League games, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from San Diego, 6-1 and 3-1; Houston edged St. Louis, 7-6; Atlanta topped Pittsburgh, 6-1; Chicago defeated Cincinnati, 6-4; and Montreal beat San Francisco, 5-2, in the first game of a doubleheader then lost the nightcap, 13-2.

AL GAMES

California edged Baltimore, 4-3; Boston blanked Texas, 3-0, in 10 innings; Chicago downed Detroit, 6-3; Milwaukee topped Oakland, 3-1; New York split a doubleheader with Minnesota by identical scores of 5-4, and Cleveland nipped Kansas City, 5-3, in 16 innings in the first game of a doubleheader in American League action. The second game at Kansas City was postponed because of rain.

The Phillies got excellent pitching from Barry Lersch and Billy Champion to complete a doubleheader sweep of the Padres. Lersch made his first start of the season in the opener and allowed the Padres only five hits.

LACK OF PROGRESS ON BUSING ISSUE BLAMED ON SENATE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The antibusing forces who marched on Washington last week appear to have reached an agreement with the administration on who is to blame for their lack of progress: The U.S. Senate.

Both sides agreed that the Senate this year is unlikely to pass either the proposed constitutional amendment against busing or President Nixon's requested curb on court-ordered busing for integrating the nation's schools.

Champion scattered eight hits in the nightcap and also hit his first major league homer as the Padres lost their fifth game in their last six starts.

Jim Wynn collected two doubles, drove in one run and scored twice to help the Astros to a victory over the Cardinals. Don Wilson went 6-1-3 in his first game since his first victory of the year while Bob Gibson took his third straight loss.

Cepeda and Garr Homer Orlando Cepeda and Ralph Garr homered in support of Phil Niekro as the Braves handed the Pirates their fifth straight loss. Niekro allowed eight hits in evening his record at 2-2.

Pinch-hitter Carmen Fanzone doubled home two runs in the last of the eighth inning to cap a four-run rally as the Cubs nipped the Reds. Burt Hooton went eight innings for the Cubs to get his second victory of the year. Ron Santo homered for Chicago.

Mike Jorgensen and Ken Singleton each homered to drive in all the Expos' runs in the opener as Montreal tagged Juan Marichal with his third loss of the year. Jorgensen's homer was a two-run shot and Singleton's a three-run blast.

The Giants broke out of a batting slump in the nightcap by collecting 17 hits. San Francisco broke a scoreless tie in the fourth with six runs. A two-run homer by Alan Galloway and a bases-loaded single by Bobby Bonds highlighted the inning. Sam McDowell went the distance for the Giants, allowing only four hits, to notch his third victory in as many decisions.

Stadium Extras Aiding Kingman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The new grandstands at Candlestick Park went up too late for Willie Mays and just in time for Dave Kingman.

The 23-year-old Kingman, a right-handed power hitter, was being billed by the San Francisco Giants as one of baseball's home run kings of the future.

The big blond seems to be rushing things. Through Sunday's games, Kingman led the major leagues in home runs with six and in runs batted in with 18.

"When the season started, I was worried a little about how many times I'd strike out. I'm not thinking about it any more," he said.

The 40-year-old Mays went without a home run in April, and his career total held at 66. Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, with 643, seems sure to pass him any day and take the No. 2 spot behind Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

Mays had only 18 homers last season.

Mays, also a right-handed hitter, probably has lost dozens of possible home runs because of the strong winds that blew in from left field at Candlestick Park.

But beginning this season, the outfield area has been enclosed with a second deck of grandstands, cutting the wind considerably.

"I don't believe those two balls would have been out last year," he said.

Textile Factory Irish Terrorist Bombing Target

BELFAST (AP) — Guerrilla bombers blasted a big Northern Ireland textile plant near Belfast on Monday, killing one man and maiming several others among the 15 injured. One worker was reported missing.

A chain of eight explosions within minutes ripped through the synthetic fibers factory owned by the giant Courtaulds combine at Carrickfergus, on the shores of Belfast Lough.

One victim had both arms ripped off and another suffered severe head injuries in the blasts, which sparked a fierce fight in the polyester processing section.

Security forces blamed the attack on the outlawed Irish Republican Army and immediately drafted extra police into predominantly Protestant Carrickfergus to cope with any threats of revenge against local Roman Catholics. The town had been virtually trouble-free through nearly three years of sectarian bloodletting in Northern Ireland.

Witnesses reported two gelignite charges had been placed under tanks full of high inflammable chemicals, but neither caused serious damage.

One said: "If those tanks had gone up, 100 people could have been killed."

A Courtaulds spokesman said it was too early to assess the extent of damage to the $31.2-million plant, one of the most advanced in Europe.

The explosions increased fears of a mounting Protestant backlash against the IRA and concessions to the North's Catholic minority by William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator in the province.

went eight innings for the Cubs to get his second victory of the year. Ron Santo homered for Chicago.

Mike Jorgensen and Ken Singleton each homered to drive in all the Expos' runs in the opener as Montreal tagged Juan Marichal with his third loss of the year. Jorgensen's homer was a two-run shot and Singleton's a three-run blast.

The Giants broke out of a batting slump in the nightcap by collecting 17 hits. San Francisco broke a scoreless tie in the fourth with six runs. A two-run homer by Alan Galloway and a bases-loaded single by Bobby Bonds highlighted the inning. Sam McDowell went the distance for the Giants, allowing only four hits, to notch his third victory in as many decisions.

Stadium Extras Aiding Kingman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The new grandstands at Candlestick Park went up too late for Willie Mays and just in time for Dave Kingman.

The 23-year-old Kingman, a right-handed power hitter, was being billed by the San Francisco Giants as one of baseball's home run kings of the future.

The big blond seems to be rushing things. Through Sunday's games, Kingman led the major leagues in home runs with six and in runs batted in with 18.

"When the season started, I was worried a little about how many times I'd strike out. I'm not thinking about it any more," he said.

The 40-year-old Mays went without a home run in April, and his career total held at 66. Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, with 643, seems sure to pass him any day and take the No. 2 spot behind Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

Mays had only 18 homers last season.

Mays, also a right-handed hitter, probably has lost dozens of possible home runs because of the strong winds that blew in from left field at Candlestick Park.

But beginning this season, the outfield area has been enclosed with a second deck of grandstands, cutting the wind considerably.

"I don't believe those two balls would have been out last year," he said.

Textile Factory Irish Terrorist Bombing Target

BELFAST (AP) — Guerrilla bombers blasted a big Northern Ireland textile plant near Belfast on Monday, killing one man and maiming several others among the 15 injured. One worker was reported missing.

A chain of eight explosions within minutes ripped through the synthetic fibers factory owned by the giant Courtaulds combine at Carrickfergus, on the shores of Belfast Lough.

One victim had both arms ripped off and another suffered severe head injuries in the blasts, which sparked a fierce fight in the polyester processing section.

Security forces blamed the attack on the outlawed Irish Republican Army and immediately drafted extra police into predominantly Protestant Carrickfergus to cope with any threats of revenge against local Roman Catholics. The town had been virtually trouble-free through nearly three years of sectarian bloodletting in Northern Ireland.

Witnesses reported two gelignite charges had been placed under tanks full of high inflammable chemicals, but neither caused serious damage.

One said: "If those tanks had gone up, 100 people could have been killed."

A Courtaulds spokesman said it was too early to assess the extent of damage to the $31.2-million plant, one of the most advanced in Europe.

The explosions increased fears of a mounting Protestant backlash against the IRA and concessions to the North's Catholic minority by William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator in the province.

UMSL Rallies Top Clan Twice

Coming from behind in both games, the University of Missouri at St. Louis rallied to win a doubleheader Monday afternoon. The winners, now 12-6 for the year, scored six times in the top of the seventh to whip out a game-long Highlander advantage in the opener, with the hosts getting within a run before faltering in the bottom of the seventh.

Scott Murphy had a perfect day at the plate with two doubles and three singles, with Larry Sample slugging a long three-run roundtripper in the third inning as the Highlanders built up a 7-2 spread. Sample and Carl Tucker each had a pair of hits in the Clans' 15-hit assault.

Mac built a 5-1 lead after four innings in the nightcap, only to fall to a six-run fifth inning outburst by the visitors. Murphy was again the bat star for the losers, now 8-12, with a lead-off solo home run and a two-run double in the fourth inning, finishing the day with seven hits in nine official trips.

DeBusschere Holds Key In 3rd Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Will Dave DeBusschere play for the New York Knicks Wednesday night in the third game of the National Basketball Association championship playoffs?

The Knicks and Lakers pondered the question Monday as they took separate flights to New York where the best-of-seven series resumes at Madison Square Garden.

"He's feeling a little better," a Knicks spokesman said of the 6-foot-6 forward who pulled a muscle near his right hip in Sunday's 106-92 loss to Los Angeles at the Forum.

"He has a little swelling. It's on a day-to-day basis," he added. "We won't know until game time."

Meanwhile, the New York Post quoted a Knicks spokesman as saying the chance of DeBusschere playing Wednesday night is "extremely doubtful."

The Lakers believe the outside shooting and rebounding strength of DeBusschere are definite keys to the series, along with the play of 6-foot-8 New York center Jerry Lucas.

Los Angeles' 7-foot-1, 35-year-old center, Wilt Chamberlain, took care of both in Sunday's game when he scored 23 points and hauled down 24 rebounds.

DeBusschere was hurt in a second-quarter collision with Chamberlain when both went for a rebound. He started the third quarter but had to leave when he couldn't raise his right hand to rebound.

Lucas picked up his fourth foul trying to guard Chamberlain in the third quarter and had to join DeBusschere on the bench.

The Lakers must at least split the two games this week in New York to regain the home-court advantage. The teams play again Friday night before returning to Los Angeles for the fifth game Sunday night.

Greenville Tops Blueboy Netters In Dual Meet 5-2

The visitors from Greenville College dominated the singles and swept the doubles competition to down Illinois College 5-2 in a non-conference dual meet Monday afternoon.

Dave Lennard opened for IC with a 6-1, 6-4 count over Nelson Blount of Greenville, but Body Yardy dropped Bill Sullivan 6-3, 6-4. Greg Smith handled Mark Strawn 6-1, 6-4 and Randy Huston outlasted Bill Clark 3-6, 6-4, 7-5 for the visitors. Floyd Bretzman added the other IC victory with a 6-1, 6-2 decision over Barney Van Vain.

Greenville took the doubles as Blount and Smith withstood Lennard and Sullivan 4-3, 6-4, 6-4 and Yardy and Huston whipped Strawn and Clark 6-1, 6-3.

Illinois College is now 3-4 this far, while Greenville is 6-3 overall. Though both teams are in the Prairie College Conference, Monday's contest does not figure in the conference standings.

SITTING DOWN: MacMurray College catcher Rick Pretz and University of Missouri-St. Louis runner Art Morgan are both grounded on this play at home, with Morgan out. Action came in Mac's double loss Monday afternoon.

Seaver 7-4 Victor; Mets' 4th Straight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Right-hander Tom Seaver struck out 12 batters in 6 and 2-3 innings and notched his fourth straight victory as the New York Mets defeated the San Francisco Giants 7-4 Monday.

Seaver, 4-0, joined Los Angeles' Don Sutton as the major league's only four-game winners and raised his career mark over the Giants to 7-2.

Left-handed Tug McGraw came on in relief in the seventh and held the Giants the rest of the way.

The Mets, leading 4-3, broke the game open with three runs in the seventh inning on singles by Bud Harrelson and Tommie Agee and run-scoring singles by Rusty Staub, Cleon Jones and Jim Fregosi.

Rockets Explode For 14-4 Margin

Routt exploded in the third and fourth innings to pin a 14-4 five-inning PMSC Conference defeat on Virginia at Nichols Park Monday afternoon, keeping its slim league lead.

The Rockets, now 4-3 overall, stand 4-1 in the PMSC with Chandlerville at 5-2. The two clubs meet in a showdown Thursday.

Trailing 4-0 after an inning and a half, Routt came to life in the second with a pair. The Rockets added five go-ahead tallies in the third and iced it with six in the fourth and an insurance tally in the sixth to stop the contest due to the ten-run ruling.

Tom Lockman led Routt's 14-hit assault, the Rockets' biggest offensive outburst of the season, with three doubles and four runs batted across. Chris Yordling, Jim Hynes, Bill Tennill and Bob Kindred each had two safeties for the winners, with David French getting two of the four hits off hurler Hugh Whalen.

Two Ways To Look At Opener

BOSTON (AP) — There are two ways to look at New York's 6-5 loss against Boston in their National Hockey League Stanley Cup championship playoff opener.

It might have been a heart-breaker for the Rangers, who roared from behind to wipe out a four-goal deficit, only to lose in the final minutes on a goal by Ace Bailey, an extra in Boston's star-studded cast.

Or, it might have been an encouraging show of bounce for the Rangers, who came back gamely and threw one ring-sized scare into the Bruins before bowing.

Boston goes with the first view.

"If I'd come back like that and then lost in the last two minutes," said Derek Sanderson, "I'd be so frustrated I'd be kicking lockers and breaking sticks all over the place."

Sanderson played a key role, scoring the first of two Boston short-handed goals that gave the Bruins their early bulge.

The Rangers, of course, think they salvaged something from the loss.

"The way we came back has to help us," said Vic Hadfield. "It doesn't feel like we lost. They had us 5-1 but we didn't quit."

"Coming from behind that way should help us," said Emile Francis, general manager-coach of the Rangers. "If we get in a hole like that again in this series, the guys know they have the ability to climb out of it."

The two teams meet again here Tuesday night in the second game of the best-of-seven series.

Hornets Sweep Two At Hamilton

HAMILTON — Brown County rolled to a West Central Conference twinbill sweep over Hamilton Monday, 7-4 and 8-3.

The Hornets hit for four in the second and three in the fifth in the opener, with Ed Wort slashing three hits and Jerry Busen two to lead the way.

Three-run outbursts in the second and fourth in the nightcap paved the way, with Greg Carlock, Denny Dormire and Mark Carlock each netting two of Brown County's 11 hits in the five-inning contest.

Brown County now stands 5-3 overall and 4-1 in league play to Hamilton's 4-4 and 1-4.

12-Round Winner

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — the most blows while Chuvvalo seemed to get in the harder ones of the rugged battle before about 7,500 fans at the Pacific Coliseum.

Chuvvalo at times expressed disgust with the dancing style of his 30-year-old foe who is looking for a return title match against heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, the only man ever to beat him.

Chuvvalo weighed 221 pounds. He suffered a vertical cut on the forehead over his right eye at the start of the sixth round, but never appeared in danger of going down. All's record went to 36-1, while Chuvvalo suffered the 17th setback in 88 fights dating back to 1956.

Referee Dave Brown scored the fight 59-51, judge Tommy Paenassa 60-46. They used the five-point-must system, with the winner of each round collecting five points and the loser four or less depending on his showing. The Associated Press scored the fight 58-52 for All.

Barry, Nets Even Series By 146-136

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Rick Barry scored 43 points, John Roche tallied 37 and Billy Paultz added 33, leading the New York Nets to a 146-136 victory over the Virginia Squires Monday night, evening the American Basketball Association Eastern Division championship playoff series at three victories apiece.

The seventh and deciding game of the playoff series will be played Thursday night in Norfolk, Va. So far, the Squires have won the three games played in Virginia while the Nets have won the three meetings at the Nassau Coliseum.

The Nets took the lead for good early in the first quarter, when a basket by Paultz, a 6-foot-11 center, put New York in front 9-8 with 9:40 to go in the period: The Nets' biggest lead came with 1:29 to play in the half, when a goal-tending call against Virginia's George Irvine on a shot by Barry made it 69-54.

New York led 73-59 at halftime and coasted the rest of the way. Virginia could come no closer than seven points, 105-98, on a pair of foul shots by Adrian Smith with 9:51 left in the game.

Virginia's rookie forward, Julius Erving, topped his club with 34 points, while guard Bernie Williams tossed in 33.

The Nets outrebounded Virginia 48-39 as Paultz hauled down 14 and Erving was limited to 10, well below his average. It was the first time in the series that New York out-rebounded Virginia.

Houston Rallies For 9-8 Count Over Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Watson singled home one run and Tommy Helms delivered another with a sacrifice fly as the Houston Astros rallied for two runs in the ninth inning to beat the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates 9-8 Monday night.

Jim Wynn, who singled with one out in the ninth and moved to second on Lee May's base hit, came home with the first run when Watson hit a soft single to right-center.

After the runners moved up on a wild pitch by Dave Glusti, Doug Rader was walked intentionally and Tommy Helms knocked in the decisive run with a sacrifice fly.

The Pirates cut the Astros' margin to one run in their half of the ninth on a double by Roberto Clemente and a single by Al Oliver.

Clemente, who was batting .255 and had no runs batted in after 13 games, hit his first homer of the season, capping a four-run Pittsburgh sixth inning to tie the game at 7-7.

The Pirates, who have lost six straight, got a run in the first on an infield grounder by Clemente after Cash singled and went to third on a double by Rennie Stennett.

They made it 3-0 in the fourth on five consecutive singles by Manny Sanguillen, Al Oliver, Gene Clines, Richie Hebner and Gene Alley.

But the Astros took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on a grand slam home run by Jim Wynn and made it 7-3 on a three-run homer by John Edwards in the sixth before the Pirates made their comeback.

Kuhn Claims Blue To Report Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Vida Blue will report to the Oakland Athletics Tuesday in Boston, according to Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, and will be prepared to sign his 1972 contract.

Kuhn said Monday he had been advised by Robert Gerst, Blue's attorney, that the left-handed pitcher was willing to agree to the contract terms worked out last week in a meeting with Oakland owner Charles O. Finley.

Finley had offered Blue a $50,000 contract plus $13,000 in bonuses — $5,000 for attorney's fees and $8,000 towards Blue's college education.

Blue, interviewed on ABC-TV's "Monday Night Sports" program, said he felt he would accept the offer because Kuhn "had been so nice" and "had put his head on the block."

Contacted Monday in Oakland by The Associated Press, Blue said, "I can't comment. I haven't signed yet, and that's it. I have to go out and do my running."

In Chicago Finley said Monday night he was "extremely pleased" that Blue would report to the club.

Kuhn, using what he called his general powers to act "in the best interests of baseball," Saturday ordered Finley to keep open his $83,000 offer to Blue and urged the 22-year-old pitcher to accept it.

Last year, his first full season in the major leagues, Blue earned $14,750. He compiled a 24-8 record and won the American League's Cy Young and Most Valuable Player Awards and led the A's to the AL West Division championship.

After several contract talks between Finley, Blue and Gerst, an apparent agreement fell through Friday when Blue refused to sign a joint announcement publicizing details of the pact.

The next day, Kuhn stepped in — arousing Finley's anger.

"That's when I saw red," Finley said at that time. "I haven't decided whether to keep it (the $83,000 offer) open, but right now I will not keep it open — won't even consider it — until he (Kuhn) orders Blue to accept it."

"I thought I had Vida on the verge of signing until he (Kuhn) stepped in," Finley added, charging that the Commissioner had "arbitrarily involved himself and forced himself" into the salary dispute.

On the ABC-TV show, Blue said Finley had little to do with his reversal, and added that it would be three or four weeks before he would be ready to pitch.

Finley said he has not been in contact with Blue since the marathon salary huddle in Chicago collapsed last weekend, but said "the contract will read $50,000 and on the side will be $13,000 in cash."

Finley said he would fly to Boston for Blue's signing, commenting "I wouldn't miss it."

A spokesman for Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Kuhn would also be in Boston Tuesday.

Blueboys Third

Undeclared Eureka captured the Prairie College Conference golf meet Monday at the Jacksonville Country Club, with host Illinois College third.

Eureka totaled 320 strokes, followed by Olivet Nazarene 326, Illinois College 331, Greenville 351, Iowa Wesleyan 360 and Blackburn 377.

IC freshman Mike Way was again medalist with a 38-39-77 over the par 72 course and made the All-PCC golf team along with Paul Humbert, Jim Schmidt and Larry Anderson of Eureka and Bob Dye of Iowa Wesleyan.

Other Blueboy scores were Walt Riley 46-45-85, Jim Stewart 46-41-87 and Larry McNamara 42-40-82.

IC is now 13-3 for the year following a 14-3-3 victory over MacMurray Saturday in which Riley took medalist honors over Way, 76-77, the only meet in which Way has not been medalist all season.

DALLAS: Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez (I) is presented the winner's trophy by Byron Nelson Monday after winning the $25,000 first prize in the Byron Nelson Classic in a sudden death playoff with Billy Casper. Rodriguez, who had not won a tournament since 1968, birdied the first hole in the playoff for the victory after he and Casper ended regular play at seven-under-par: 273. (UPI Telephoto)

Rodriguez Wins By Quick Birdie

DALLAS (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez tapped in a five-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole Monday and defeated Billy Casper in a sudden-death playoff for the $25,000 first prize in the Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

The wiry, 38-year-old Puerto Rican lifted his eyes to the skies and raised a clenched fist over his head after he dropped the putt that brought him his first victory in almost four years of struggle.

Rodriguez had to come from behind on two occasions in the final round to tie Casper at 273—seven under par on the Presion Trial Golf Club course—at the end of the regulation 72 holes.

Casper, also seeking an end to a lengthy slump, rallied from three consecutive bogeys for a 71 while Rodriguez matched par 70 under skies that alternated from dreary clouds to bright, warm sun.

Little Wilf Homenuik, the hard-luck Canadian who blew the lead in Sunday's third round, had third place alone until he three-putted the final green and dropped back into a tie at 275 with Charles Coody and Australian veteran Bruce Crampton.

Cody had a 68, Crampton a 69 and Homenuik a 70.

ABA Turns down Florida Offer To Buy Pros

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association's Board of Trustees Monday turned down Florida millionaire Joseph Gregory's offer to buy the financially troubled Memphis Pros.

After a five-hour session of the trustees, ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph said the offer was rejected "because of our confidence in the current management of the Pros and in Memphis as a major league city."

The present management of the Pros was given until June 13 "to come up with a solution more advantageous to the league and Memphis and we fully expect that solution to be found," Dolph added.

Gregory made his offer to buy the team Saturday. Details were not disclosed. He is a resident of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and was the owner of the ABA's Kentucky Colonels during the league's first year of operations.

"Mr. Gregory would be totally welcome into the ABA and our decision does not preclude him from future ownership," Dolph said. "However, we did not feel this particular offer was in the best interest of the Memphis stockholders and the league."

Sprint Thriller

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. — Veteran USAC driver Bruce Walkup won the Second Annual Tony Hulman Classic Sprint Car Race at the Terre Haute Action Track Sunday. The race was originally scheduled for live television coverage by ABC on Saturday afternoon, but steady rain prevented the running of the rich $22,000 USAC sprint car race on Saturday.

The sun was shining on the gala festivities on Sunday however, and the entire program was video taped by ABC for playback at a later date. Walkup managed to literally nose-out last year's winner, George Snider, as they came across the finish line in the rollover marred 40 lap feature race. The finish of the race was almost a carbon copy of the 1971 running of the Hulman Classic when George Snider passed Rolie Beale on the fourth turn of the last lap to take the checkered flag.

This year Snider again passed the leader, Walkup, as they were coming out of turn number four on the last lap. However, he was not able to maintain that lead down the front straightaway as Walkup had outdistanced him by less than a car length at the finish line.

The entire 40-lap feature was filled with highly competitive racing action for all positions. The top four finishers were just a matter of one or two car lengths apart at the checkered flag. Walkup was followed by Snider, Sam Sessions was third, followed closely by Lee Kunzman for fourth. Larry Cannon was fifth, Jim McElreath sixth, and Tom Bigelow seventh.

Gary Bettenhausen, the current USAC Championship Car point leader, and the 1971 Spring Car Champion, was out of the running early in the race when his car flipped several times between turns one and two on the second lap of the feature race. Bettenhausen was not injured in the accident.

Dick "Toby" Tobias also took several violent flips down the back straightaway when he was challenging for the lead midway through the 40 lap Hulman Classic. Tobias was badly shaken by the roll-overs but not believed to be seriously injured. He was taken to the hospital for a check-up.

Prior to the running of the 40-lap Hulman Classic on the 1/4 mile banked dirt track, four qualifying heats and a 12-lap consolation race was also video taped by the ABC television crews. Kunzman was the winner of the consolation race, and heat winners were Cannon, Walkup, Carl Williams and Bettenhausen.

The USAC Sprint Division point leader going into Sunday's race, Beale failed to qualify his car for the field during the time trials that were held on Friday afternoon. Sessions was the fastest qualifier for the event with a one lap time of 24.74 seconds, far off the track record of 22.76 set by Johnny Rutherford in August of 1965.

The third place finish by Sessions was enough to give him the lead in the USAC Sprint Division point standings with 158 points. Dickson, driver of the Dr. Dunseth-sponsored sprinter, retains his hold on second place in the standings with 132 points.

Walkup's win on Sunday marked the fifth different feature winner of the 1972 USAC sprint season. The opening race of the season was won by Sessions at Cincinnati, Ohio. Bettenhausen won the inaugural event at Penn National in Harrisburg, Pa. Beale won the snow delayed race at Eldora Speedway in Rossburg, Ohio, on April 2. Dickson, 1970 Sprint Champion, won the feature at the Winchester Speedway in Indiana on April 9.

The USAC Sprint Division drivers have a busy schedule this weekend with a race Saturday night, May 6, at Cincinnati, Ohio; followed by another 40-lap feature event on Sunday afternoon, May 7, at New Bremen, Ohio.

The USAC Stock Division was also plagued by the weather this past weekend, as they were rained out Saturday night at Knoxville, Iowa, and again on Sunday at Sedalia, Missouri.

Hooton Invented Knuckle Curve

By FRANK ECK
AP Newfeatures Sports Editor

Burt Hooton of the Chicago Cubs throws a knuckle curve ball as though he invented it. Turns out he did.

"I began fooling around with it in high school," replied the blonde, right-handed native of Greenville, Tex., when asked how he got his freak pitch.

The poise of this pitcher who compiled a 35-3 record at the University of Texas is just as amazing in the locker room as it is on the field. His timing is perfect in both places. He not only knows how to pitch but how to wait for the next question.

Hooton had pitched a winning game against the Mets, striking out nine in seven innings and allowing six hits. But Tom Seaver, also fanning nine and allowing only four singles, had outpitched him this day to make amends for the last time the two pitchers met. On that occasion Hooton turned in a two-hitter and a 3-0 victory.

So now, with his no-hitter against the Phillies April 16 and that 3-0 Met win of last September, Hooton had a string of scoreless innings going for him.

The hitless string was snapped in the first inning when Bud Harrelson blooped a double over Billy Williams' head in left field. Another pitcher might have kicked the rubber because the ball was catchable. But Hooton, with the bases loaded and one out had Cleon Jones looking at a called third strike. The young phenom was to get four more such called third strikes, each with his darting knuckle curve.

Reminded that he had walked only three batters, two of them intentionally, Hooton said: "Maybe I ought to walk more like the other day." In his no-hitter he had walked seven. Asked how his pitches were working, Hooton replied: "I had better stuff today," making certain he would not boast about his no-hitter.

The sad part about this game in Shea Stadium was that only 11,144 paying customers turned out on a day when some 8,000 senior citizens swelled the crowd to 19,222. The Hooton-Seaver matchup was known for two days: In warmer weather he will be pitching before 40,000 people.

One senior citizen, Moe Berg, the former catcher who could tell umpires off in seven languages but seldom did, was up in the press box and, while Hooton was retiring 11 Mets in a row, Berg got up and took a stance directly behind home plate.

"This kid is amazing," Berg said. "I've never seen pitches break like his." Three opposite field singles did Hooton in, costing two runs and the ball game. Hooton is a picture pitcher and reminds you of Seaver except that he raises his two hands higher over his head while in his motion with nobody on base, which happens most of the time. He is built like Seaver, being 6-foot-1 and only a bit heavier at 210.

Cub pitching coach Larry Jansen said he saw Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry quite a bit with the Giants, and remembers Sandy Koufax and Warren Spahn. "But when you see someone like Hooton it can't help but get to you."

"Wait until he gets better," Berg was told. "He doesn't have to get any better," Berg replied, "not as long as he keeps that speed on his knuckle curve. It's better than a screwball."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks suffered its sharpest loss in six months Monday as stock market price retreated on a broad front. Trading was slow.

The blue-chip indicator tumbled 11.89 to finish at 942.28, its biggest drop since last Nov. 1, when it plummeted 13.14 points. Declines on the New York Stock Exchange led advances by more than 2 to 1.

Analysts blamed the sharp drop on mounting concern about the Communist offensive in South Vietnam and uncertainty caused by the Price Commission's order last week to some companies to rescind their price increases.

The losers included airlines, drugs, steels, motors, mail order-retail, farm implements, and glamour stocks. All other groups were mixed.

Big Board volume declined to 12.89 million shares, the smallest turnover in more than a month. On Friday, 14.17 million changed hands.

The most-active Big Board issue was GAF Corp., off 1 at 22 on a volume of 153,700 shares. A 73,600-share block of the issue traded at 21 1/4.

Of the 1,745 issues traded on the Big Board, 1,060 declined, and 403 advanced. New yearly highs were reached by 97 issues and lows by 24.

Of the 1,210 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 224 declined, and 716 advanced. Volume on the Amex rose to 3.84 million shares from 3.76 million Friday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks closed off 0.54 at 59.46. The American Stock Exchange index finished off .19 at 27.76. The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 2.8 at 333.5. Industrials were off 5.5, rails were off 1.5, and utilities were unchanged.

The number of blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board dropped to 95 from a revised 100 Friday. The largest block was 119,100 shares of Northeast Utilities, which traded at 15, up 1/4.

Boom In 'Phantom Banking'

By CARLTON SMITH

The lines at the tellers' windows seem to keep getting longer and slower. Customers' tempers, in proportion, appear to be getting shorter.

We heard a prosperous-looking customer lose his cool recently and loudly inform a bank officer that, if they couldn't get another window or two open and get the line moving, he was going to take his account elsewhere. (Another window was opened.)

That one way to deal with the problem. Bank customers are turning in increasing numbers to another solution: the mails. They simply never go near the place.

What some bankers refer to as "phantom banking" now covers nearly the whole range of services in many commercial banks — the so-called "full-service banks" — to the extent that thousands of customers are never seen inside the bank as flesh-and-blood people from one end of the year to the other.

A Chicago bank, Harris Trust, recently discovered that one customer they had "known" for many years, an architect, hadn't passed through the door in 30 years — though his office is only a short walk away.

Highland Falls, N.Y., has a population of less than 5,000, but the Marine Midland Bank there has a staff of 12 assigned to handle incoming mail. Not quite a typical case, this. The bank stands just outside the front gate of the military academy at West Point. Cadets who opened accounts there years ago now bank by mail form — well, a recent morning's mail included postmarks from Greenland, Kashmir, Australia, Kenya and Beane, England.

How customers are turning to "phantom banking" is indicated by the 21-day mail tally made recently by Merchants National in Aurora, Ill., population 74,000. More than 3,000 mail deposits poured in — most of them local, of course. Most banks have now geared up to handle the increased volume of "phantoms," and for just about any bank service except trips to the vault, you can save shoe leather and avoid standing in line by letting the postman do the walking.

Many banks, for instance, now use a do-it-yourself loan application. They'll mail you the form when you want to finance a car or need a home improvement or personal loan. You fill it out, score yourself on credit rating according to a key on the form and mail it back. Many borrowers get their checks by mail without ever having been inside the bank.

It's no secret that established customers get favored treatment, of course, and that can be another plus for banking by mail. One salesman who's been on the move for years has always kept his account at the same bank, Security Pacific National in Los Angeles. He recently wrote from Athens, Greece, about a 37-cent discrepancy in his checking account.

Beats having to argue with somebody in Greek about — let's see, 37 cents comes to how many drachmas?

OLD CROP WHEAT FUTURES ADVANCE

CHICAGO (AP) — Old crop wheat futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Monday but corn, oats and soybeans futures were irregular.

Soybean oil and meal prices also were irregular but iced broilers were higher. Trade was improved in the broiler pit and some buying was attributed to expectations that poultry prices will be higher this summer because of lower production.

The buying of wheat futures, mainly in the nearby May option, was mixed. Demand for the closest contract again was influenced by thinning Chicago stocks.

Deferred options later reflected the interest in the nearby but some profit-taking pared all options.

Rain over wide sections of the country tended to slow down field work, and this was a buying factor in the corn and oat pits. Commercial selling, however, was fairly active in oats.

Soybean futures showed some weakness in the opening under rather heavy commercial and local professional selling. Minutes later, new buying entered the pit and nearby options pushed ahead 1 1/2 cents. A sell-off then followed.

Oil and meal also weakened. After about an hour, wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel higher, May 1.64 1/4; corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, May 1.22 1/2; oats were 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, May 68 1/2 cents; soybeans were 1 cent lower to 1/4 higher, May 3.45 1/2.

MAGGIE'S "AUNT"

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maggie Smith will star in the title role of "Travels with My Aunt" at MGM.

BOSTON (UPI) — There's no such thing as too much, too soon for Tom Johnson. Just don't let up when you get a bundle.

That's the way the coach of the Boston Bruins looked at things Monday after his club built a 5-1 early lead, then relaxed and barely escaped with a 6-5 win over the New York Rangers Sunday in the opening game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup championship series.

The series resumes here Tuesday night, then moves to New York Thursday and Sunday for games three and four.

The Bruins started with a roar in the series opener and appeared to have things wrapped up when Ken Hodge, who netted the first three-goal "hat trick" of his playoff career, and the often-ailing Derek Sanderson slammed in shorthanded goals 45 seconds apart to give Boston a 4-1 advantage with just 18:14 gone in the opening period.

Hodge scored again at 10:46 of the middle period to make it 5-1, but the Rangers chipped away at the lead on goals by Rod Gilbert, Vic Hadfield and Walt Tkaczuk and finally tied the game at 9:17 of the third period when Bruce MacGregor fired in a 10-footer.

It was Ace Bailey who settled the issue for Boston, skating around New York defenseman Brad Park and beating goalie Ed Giacomin from close range with 2:16 left in the game.

"We had a good start, but then we quit forechecking and quit hitting and the Rangers came back and put it in the net," Johnson said. "We suffered a letdown, but you can't take it away from the great goal by Bailey."

Johnson said the Bruins "weren't nearly as aggressive in the latter part of the game as we were at the start. You can never get too much, too soon—but I think it was a great lesson for us. You can't relax and we attempted to."

"I thought we put ourselves in a pretty good hole," New York coach Emile Francis said. "Penalty killers are an important part of the game and Boston's gave them the crucial goals they needed."

Park blamed himself for allowing Bailey to get inside for the winning goal. "If I had done the right thing Bailey wouldn't have scored," Park said. "I should have played the puck, but I played the man instead. He was moving too fast and was too far from the boards. He just got around me."

New York's only lead in the bruising contest came at 3:52 of the opening period when Dale Rolfe scored on a slapshot from the point. But Fred Stanfield tied the game at 1-1 a minute and 15 seconds later and Hodge scored the first of his three at 15:48 from the corner of the crease while Giacomin was playing without a stick.

Referee Bill Friday handed out 54 minutes in penalties to the two clubs, 42 of them in the first period when he dealt Ranger defenseman Gary Doak a minor penalty for elbowing Hodge, a 10-minute misconduct for arguing about it and a game misconduct for continuing the debate.

Hadfield said he expected the opening game might set a pattern for the rest of the series.

dictments last month of Dun & Bradstreet, the blue-chip credit-rating firm, nine other corporations and 40 individuals, including the No. 3 man in the F.H.A.'s New York City insuring office.

A House government-operations subcommittee continues hearings Tuesday on the F.H.A.'s role in similar cases involving Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and other cities.

The government says the illegal operators work this way: speculators flood a racially changing neighborhood, coax or frighten white homeowners into selling cheaply, apply cosmetic rehabilitation to the houses, gain an inflated F.H.A. appraisal of the property's worth, then sell to low-income, minority families who can't afford the upkeep.

Indictments charge that F.H.A. appraisers were sometimes bribed and that the poor sometimes connived with speculators to get false credit ratings for mortgage eligibility.

When repair costs mount, the families abandon the houses. The government is forced to pay off the mortgage holders, then demolish or rehabilitate the homes.

Among the real-estate players who are reaping profits from such schemes are speculators, mortgage companies, banks, and the final holders of the risk-free mortgages—insurance companies, savings associations, pension funds, and the government-sponsored Federal National Mortgage Association.

Mortgage companies, pivotal institutions in the speculation, will receive special attention in the antitrust subcommittee's hearings.

Nominally the firms originate F.H.A. mortgages on the speculators' houses for ultimate resale to institutional investors. But many also extend high-interest loans, typically at 11 to 18 percent, for the initial speculative sale of houses destined for resale to low-income families.

Industry sources said speculators channel mortgage business to firms that favor them with interim financing.

Finances Approved By Council; Utility Rhubarb Continues

Members of the Jacksonville City Council Monday evening approved a series of investments designed to keep City Treasurer Mrs. Rose Cosgriff busy for some time.

Mrs. Cosgriff was authorized and directed to make a number of investments in certificates of deposit in a series of idle funds from several departments.

Alderman Don Votmsier said the certificates of deposit would earn five per cent interest for those funds invested 6 months or less.

Utility Rhubarb Continues
Alderman Votmsier commented on a radio editorial in which he was cited as one member of the council who did not subscribe to city power. Votmsier "corrected" what he felt was in error, then Utilities Superintendent Robert Jameson "cor-

on Beardstown

By Virgil Reither

BEARDSTOWN — It was the orange juice which drew all the publicity during the Apollo 16 flight, but it was Oscar Mayer and Company sandwiches that appeased the hunger of astronauts John Young, commander; Charles Duke, lunar module pilot and Ken Mattingly, command module pilot.

The OM products aboard the lunar ship included sliced cooked ham, ham and cheese and smoked turkey breast meat made into frozen sandwiches. OM products in fact have been taken on all Apollo flights and on earlier Mercury missions as well.

Behind the Trademark
Information on the OM products on the moon ship came from the Oscar Mayer and Co. magazine LINK which goes to all Beardstown employees in the big plant here.

LINK this week also carried a story about a Beardstown man, Ken Fortney, who is scale

Both Shea and Choate said they had apprehensions about some portions of the bill, but felt that those areas could be ironed out during floor debate.

"I will work with you to amend it," Choate told the Republicans. "But I cannot support it at present form."

At the same time, Collins, chairman of the elections committee, agreed that he looked favorably on various Democratic suggestions as long as the central core of the legislation — disclosure and limitations of campaign spending — remained intact.

The bill, if passed by the General Assembly and signed by the governor, would take effect Jan. 1, 1973 and not affect the November elections.

"As written it would limit campaign spending on radio, television, and billboards to 10 cents per registered voter in the voting area."

The bill, which is modeled after national campaign disclosure laws covering federal offices, would affect candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state, comptroller, treasurer, state representatives and state senators.

Under the measure the candidates or political committees handling the campaign would be required to:

—File with the Board of Elections all contributions and expenditures of more than $100. The report must include the name, address and occupation of the contributors if the aggregate amount is $100 over a calendar year.

—Report the total amount of funds from the sale of tickets to dinners and other fund raising events and the sale of political campaigning material.

—Limit his personal campaign contributions to $35,000 if running for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, comptroller or treasurer and to $10,000 if running for state senator or representative.

A key area of contention may revolve around who is prohibited from contributing.

The bill forbids any financial institutions, corporations or labor organizations from making contributions or expenditures in connection with any election to state office.

Shea also questioned whether the electoral board — which is required to be established under the state constitution — is the best vehicle for administering and enforcing the legislation.

Under the bill, the board would collect and file all records and investigate any violations. Maximum penalty for a violation is $1,000 and imprisonment for one year.

The campaign disclosure legislation has received increased impetus since a Circuit Court judge in Chicago last week ruled the state governmental ethics law unconstitutional, in part, because it did not include provisions for campaign spending and contribution disclosures.

In other action, the Republican dominated committee killed a bill, sponsored by Choate, which called for a statewide re-registration 28 days prior to the November elections.

Choate said the measure — which would cost $2.4 million — was "a must for election reform" and necessary to get "some of the dead wood" off the registration roles of the state.

The House minority leader's rhetoric did little to convince the GOP committee members, who asked, "who is going to pay for this?"

Choate answered that under present plans the counties, already in economic difficulties, would pay, but said that he would seek separate legislation for the state to take over financing if necessary. The committee voted 11-9 against giving the bill a favorable recommendation.

Another Choate measure — which would consolidate elections — was passed out of the floor of the House 16-0 where it is expected to receive bipartisan support. Choate said the measure (Turn To Page Seven) (See "House")

Drug Offenders

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, saying it was "simple justice" to make current drug sentences conform to changes in penalties for drug violations, granted executive clemency Monday to 109 imprisoned drug offenders.

The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board announced that the cases of 410 prisoners were reviewed after the governor signed into law last year two new drug control measures.

Ogilvie granted clemency to 67 marijuana offenders, releasing seven and reducing the sentences of the others. The new laws set lower penalties for first-time marijuana offenders.

Forty-two persons convicted of offenses with drugs such as heroin and cocaine were granted clemency. Two were released and the rest received sentence reductions.

Under the new marijuana act, persons convicted for the first time of selling under 2.5 grams of marijuana cannot be sentenced to more than 180 days and the sentences cannot be served in a penitentiary.

The Illinois Supreme Court recently ruled the state's 1931 narcotic drug law was unconstitutional and an unreasonable classification of marijuana with more dangerous drugs.

The ruling came on the appeal of a Kane County man convicted in 1969 for the sale of marijuana. The old law mandated a 10-year sentence for first offenders.

Monday At IC Convo

By DENNIS YOCOM
William F. Cellini, Secretary of the Illinois Department of Transportation, spoke to a gathering of students and faculty for the annual Alumni Day convocation at Illinois College Monday morning.

After some humorous remarks about old school days at IC, Cellini gave his opinion on the image that a politician has to project in the process of becoming elected. Too often, said Cellini, an ill-qualified candidate with a good man made image will triumph over an ideally qualified opponent who has a poor political image.

Good ballot position, newspaper support and a catchy two-syllable name could, according to Cellini, add up to 40 per cent of a candidate's image.

Cellini said the label "politician" has become badly tainted over the years and reminded his audience that even Abe Lincoln had to be a good "politician" before becoming a great statesman.

Recalling his early political career, Cellini said that he had been labelled "a young man interested in serving his community" and "a young fellow bucking the establishment."

Now, said Cellini, he has been handed the tag of "a rising young politician."

Fielding a question from the audience pertaining to campaign expenditures in general, Cellini stated that he didn't think the government would be able to effectively limit campaign spending, but that the Public Disclosure Act would "help keep spending in line."

Cellini then talked at length on the new road building programs of the Ogilvie administration. He said that the Transportation Department has come under fire from farmers waving the banner of environment and disclosed some figures on his departments interaction with the environment. Cellini stated that 1/2 of one per cent of Illinois land was in the hands of his department and that 70 per cent of that land is completely green area. He compared this to the 6 per cent of productive Illinois farm land that is left in federally funded soil bank. "This is 12 times more land than is utilized by the Illinois highway system," said Cellini.

Cellini also said that every mile of old U.S. 36 consumes 12 acres while 33 acres is now used for "every mile of new highway built in Illinois. He used these figures to point up the increased safety improvements, such as on the proposed Central Illinois Expressway, which would reduce highway fatalities by 82 per cent.

In direct reference to the Transportation Department to which he was recently appointed and confirmed by the Illinois Senate, Cellini told of an upcoming change from a department which was formerly only 15 per cent civil service employees to one which will have all professional and civil service workers.

At an informal gathering after the convocation Cellini said that his department has increased the average of highway miles constructed from 800 miles per year to 1500 miles each year. Cellini added that the boom in highway construction fosters badly needed commercial and industrial growth in the downstate areas.

In speaking of the Central Illinois Expressway Cellini stated that bids would be let and construction on bridges between Springfield and Jacksonville would begin before the end of this year.

Kenton Jazz Concert And Clinic Wednesday
The Stan Kenton Jazz Orchestra will present an afternoon clinic and evening concert next Wednesday (May 3) in Annie Merner Chapel at MacMurray College.

The afternoon program, beginning at 2 and ending at 5 p.m. will consist of a clinic for music students and will examine the problems of improvisation, arranging and composition as well as those encountered in the playing of the various instruments. The clinic program is sponsored in part through a grant from the Illinois Arts Council.

The evening segment, a full-scale concert by Kenton and his 19-piece orchestra will begin at 8:15 p.m. The program will include some of Kenton's older classics as well as innovative arrangements in today's style. Admission to the concert, which is the fourth and final concert in the 1971-72 series sponsored by the Jacksonville-MacMurray Music Association, will be by season ticket only.

Because of his well-known progressivism over the past 31 years and the fact that he appeals to a broad spectrum of the American public, Stan Kenton is regarded by critics as one of the major forces of influence within American music.

It is interesting to note that Kenton has also bridged the generation gap within his own orchestra. The average age of his musicians is 27. The youngest member of the band is only 18.

Much of Kenton's continuing popularity in a heavily rock-dominated music industry is due in large measure to his long and deep involvement in music education, high standards of musicianship and an extremely close rapport with jazz fans.

This last can be attributed chiefly to Kenton's creation, two years ago, of Creative World which operates out of P.O. Box 35216 in Los Angeles.

Creative World issues a four-times yearly newsletter which prints information about the band; its itinerary, names of current band members; reports of various tours as well as a full list of available Kenton recordings complete with titles and arrangers.

Currently, this six-page Creative World newsletter is sent free to over 100,000 jazz fans throughout the world who personally requested it via card or letter.
